TAX COLLECTOR'S PLEA VANCE CHOSEN DEAN

ASKS THAT CLERICAL FORCE BE GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVER-REMEMBERED.

Summary of Collections-Reference to Personal Tax Payments.

Alleging, practically, that discrimination has prevailed in allowing increases in other departments of the District government, while no similar rewards have been the portion of his own hard working subordinates, Collector of Taxes E. G. Davies, in connection with his annual report and estimates submitted to the Commissioners late yesterday afternoon, makes earnest plea that the men under him be not forgotten when the estimates of the Commissioners go to Congress this year. He asks a total of $23,350 for the conduct of affairs in his office in the new year ending June 30, 1907, the increase in salaries advocated amounting to $1,500. Of this $700 is recomamounting to $1,500. Of this $700 is recommended for C. W. Collins, deputy collector, who must perform the duties of the collector in the latter's absence; $200 each for C. M. Towers, cashier, W. D. Clark, Jr., assistant cashier, and David Warner, book-keeper. An increase of $100 in the salaries of E. B. Fletcher and E. W. Bishopp, coupon clerks is also asked. Summary of Collections.

In his report Collector Davis summarizes the revenues collected from all sources during the year 1904-05, in the following table:

 Collector's Comment.

Commenting on this financial statement, he collector says: "A comparison with the receipts of the prior fiscal year show an increase of $72,-870.46 on account of realty tax, $31,948.20 on account of personal tax, $49,855.98 on account of miscellaneous collections, and a reduction of $15,877.45 on account of penalties and interest, making a net increase on account of the general fund of $138,797.19 account of the general fund of $138,797.19.
"Special and trust funds show an increase of $38,957.78 on account of repayments to appropriation, a reduction on account of trust funds of $159,126.19, and $30.11 on account of collections for the United States, making a net reduction of $120,198,52.

making a net reduction of $120,198.52.

"The collection of personal taxes by personal demand has proven very successful and more than met reasonable expectations. True, it gives the office much additional work, in preparing lists, checking them off daily, etc., but the largely increased collections warrant the effort.

"The collections for the fiscal year just ended on account of arrears of personal tax aggregated $66,055.51, due to the facilities obtainable by the appropriation of $2.500, with such aid as could be given by the regular force of this office during the dull season.

"For the ensuing fiscal year $3,000 are available, but experience has proven that a much larger appropriation can be used to Payers of Personal Tax. "The number of personal taxpayers who will only pay under duress is very large, making it necessary to put a force in the field sufficient to reach all delinquents with-in a reasonable time after bills become due uncollectable by reason of death, failure in business, removal from the city, etc. Collections can often be made from this class of delinquents if reached promptly, but in order to do this the office must be riven sufficient facilities to enforce the la without delay. Mr. Davis also says that he believes the present tax sale law is the best the District has ever had, but he recommends an dment to section 5, which, if adopted, will do away with certain objections mos frequently heard-namely-that records of such transactions shall be kept both in the offices of the recorder of deeds and of the

SITY LAW SCHOOL.

The resignation of Henry St. George Tucker as dean and professor of law in the department of law and jurisprudence of the George Washington University was yesterday presented to the executive committee. Dr. Tucker has been elected president of the Jamestown Exposition, which position will require all of his time during the next two years. The committee elected Prof. William Raynolds Vance as dean of the department, to succeed Dr. Tucker, resigned. Prof. Vance has been two years in the department, giving his whole time to the work as professor of law, and has won the esteem of every one connected with the university and of the student body in this department.

Prof. Vance was born at Middletown, Ky., on May 9, 1870. Graduating with honors in 1888 from an academy in Shelbyville, Ky., he received an appointment as teacher of mathematics and Latin in the West Georgia Agricultural and Mechanical College, at Hamilton, Ga. In 1890 he entered Washing-Hamilton, Ga. In 1890 he entered Washington and Lee University, winning the degree of bachelor of arts after two years, a feat that has, perhaps, not been before or since accomplished in that institution. Being then appointed to the Mapleson scholarship, he took his master's degree in 1893, and then, as incumbent of the Howard Houston fellowship, continued his post graduate studies in history, English and constitutional law. In 1895 he received the degree of doctor of philosophy, presenting as his tional law. In 1895 he received the degree of doctor of philosophy, presenting as his thesis a brief historical treatise entitled "Slavery in Kentucky," which has since been published by the university. During the years 1891-95 he was also instructor in English in the University.

Graduating in law in 1897, he began to practice in Louisville, Ky., but was shortly thereafter elected adjunct professor of law in his alma mater, Washington and Lee University. In 1890 he was promoted to a professorship and began to devote special study to the law of real estate and of insurance, in which branches his special insurance, in which branches his special in-terest still continues. At this time he began the work which he has recently published nder the title "Vance on Insurance."

under the title "Vance on Insurance."

Upon Henry St. George Tucker's resignation as dean of the department of law in Washington and Lee University in 1002, Prof. Vance was chosen to succeed him. In the following year he resigned this position to accept a professorship in the George Washington University.

Prof. Vance is a member of the Virginia and American bar associations, and presented the minority report of the American Bar Association's committee on insurance Bar Association's committee on insurance

WEEK ENDING OCTOBER 14, 1905.

President Roosevelt held a conference with a number of well-known authorities on college athletics looking toward an improvement of athletic standards. Robert Bacon of New York took the oath of office as assistant secretary of state, and Francis B. Loomis retired from the State Department. Gen. Henry G. Sharpe was appointed commissary general of the army, succeeding Gen. John F. Weston. The United States Supreme Court met for the autumn term. The census bureau's report on the total cotton available in the United States from September 1, 1904, to September 1, 1905, showed a total of 14,455,994 bales. Charles E. Hughes refused the nomination for mayor of New York tendered to him by the republican city convention. The Massachusetts democratic state convention nominated a ticket and adopted a platform containing a plank commending the President for bringing about peace between Russia and Japan. R. D. Greene and J. F. Gaynor were brought from Mon-St. Louis to restrain the Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain roads or their trustees from voting Wabash stock in the annual Wabash election was denied; Ramsey was subsequently badly beaten in the fight against George J. Gould at the following election of directors. Capt. Taggart re-ceived a divorce from Mrs. Taggart at Wooster, Ohio, and the court gave him the custody of his two children. Eighteen new cases of yellow fever at the last report were discovered in Pensacola, Fla., and the spread of the disease was feared to be beyond control. The state superintendent of insurance of Missouri demanded of President McCall of the New York Life the return to the treasury of $148,702 campaign contributions, on pain of revocation of the company's license in Missouri. A farmer named Graham was arrested and accused of the murder of three persons near Mid-dletown, N. Y., by the woman who was the only survivor of the tragedy.

Foreign Affairs. Disquieting reports were received from many cities in the Russian empire; bombs were thrown at Cossacks in Tiflis and the troops charged the mobs, killing and wounding many persons; strikers stoned the police and soldiers in Moscow and 200 arrests were made; the strike in Moscow continued to spread and a strong sentiment in favor of joining the movement was reported from St. Petersburg; a Russian mail train bound for Vladivostok in the Caucasus was thrown from the track and twenty-seven persons were killed; Hohen-tal, the murderer of Procurator General Adjourned until Monday next at 12 o clock.

The treaty committee of the Swedish riksdag decided unanimous-Lester for appellant.

No. 1569. Clark agt. Gerstley; submitted on record and appellant's brief within five agreement. Prof. von Behring explain to Paris his so-called cure for consumption decided to begin a general strike and the congress resolved to declare martial law all over the country for ninety days. The British steamer Leho was reported to have been blown up by a floating mine near Shantung lighthouse. The British squad-ron under Vice Admiral Sir Girard Noel arrived at Yokohama and was warmly wel-comed. Among those who died was Sir Henry Irving, the famous English actor, at Bradford, England, after a performance "Becket."

In the District.

Henry Litchfield West was reappointed a Commissioner of the District of Columbia by the President for a second term. It was estimated that the District revenues available for the fiscal year ending June 30. 1907, will be $5,562,549. The superintendent of street cleaning submitted his tendent of street cleaning submitted his first annual report. More than 2,000 of the bankers of the country were the guests of the District of Columbia during the thirty-fifth annual convention of the American Bankers' Association; the second interna-tional sanitary congress of the American republics was held; the High Tent of North America, Independent Order of Rechabites, also held its annual sessions and "Recha-bite" Sunday was generally observed by the preaching of more than fifty temperance sermons in Washington churches; the Prosermons in Washington churches; the Provincial Grand Lodge and Provincial Grand Chapter of the Royal Order of Scotland met in annual session. The annual field day exercises of the several Washington commanderies of Knights Templar were held at the country home of Mr. John R. McLean. It was announced that Mr. John R. McLean had bought an even half interest in the Washington Post Company. J. Archibald Williams was run down by a freight train on a trestle in Anacostia and knocked into the Eastern branch and drowned. Leroy Herbert, two years old, died from burns received while playing with matches. Mrs. Brooks Burr, colored, was burned to death in her home. Joseph G. Owings, forty-five years old, a painter, was killed by a fall of 270 feet down the shaft of the Washington monument, the accident being caused by the breaking of a scaffold.
